

Abstract of the Disclosure

A method and apparatus are used for detecting a presence of a user at a telecommunication terminal by at least one of a change in the acoustical path around the 5 telecommunication terminal and the body heat of the user.